Merry Christmas!

By Rev. Thomas A Robb

I placed this image at the right because I believe it symbolizes the message of this short article - Jesus is not only our savior - but he is indeed our conquering King.

Simply put!

Jesus Conquers Everything!

I have many wonderful friends who choose not to celebrate Christmas. I don't question their sincerity or love for the Lord. I have read many of their writings as well as that of Alexander Hislop, the source of their anti-Christmas teachings as well as Herbert W. Armstrong and the Jehovah's Witnesses who helped to "evangelize" the Christmas is pagan narrative.

Jesus Conquers EVERYTHING!

So those who think Christians should not celebrate Christmas. I trust you will indulge my few comments here about why I believe the celebration of Christmas as well as Easter is not only permissible but something as Christians we SHOULD DO. In fact, I think I could make the argument that it is not the celebration of Christmas that is pagan but it is the refusal to celebrate Christmas and Easter that is pagan.

I hope I don't lose any friends. I love all those who are aware of our Israelite identity and I count some of you as close friends. So I trust those of you who oppose the celebration of Christmas will continue to love me back.

For starters: I am willing to admit that all you say about Christmas beginning with Semiramis, and the birth of Nimrod on December 25 is possibly true. And it certainly should be of little doubt that Jesus was not born on the 25th of December but most likely sometime between late October to mid September. There is no universal agreement when Jesus was born, but most will agree it was not Dec. 25.

In Hislop's book, Two Babylons, he explains that images of Mary holding baby Jesus, prevalent at Christmas time and even appearing on postage stamps is actually the pagan goddess, Semiramis holding Nimrod. And

The Battle of Trenton

And the Crossing of the Delaware

By Jason M Robb, J.D.

Another Christmas Story!

As Christmas approaches, we see the Christmas lights streaming up around houses and towns, Christmas trees are being decorated and Christmas songs are in the air. It's a joyful time of the year as we remember the birth of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ, who came to redeem his people Israel which history identifies as those of the Anglo-Saxon, Germanic, Scan-dinavian and other racial kindred of Europe.

We all know the Christmas story of the birth of Jesus and the events that led up to that important holy day. Yet, I want to tell you about another important Christmas story. The story of our American forefathers who, against all odds, yet ordained by God to establish the new Jerusalem in America as foretold in II Sam. 7:10 and Isaiah 18: 1-7.

Our founding forefathers knew they were fighting a holy war here in America. There are those of today that despise our forefathers and want to trash and tear them down. They don't want us or the next generation to cherish them or honor their great sacrifices. There are some even among Christians who do the same. I consider them in the same camp as Marxists, who wants our people to despise our Christian forefathers that were fulfilling the prophesy of God in building the new Jerusalem.

Many are not aware of this crucial and historical battle of Trenton, New Jersey in the early morning hours of December 26, 1776. Before this historical battle even began, the American forces led by George Washington had been defeated in several battles and he and his generals knew that they had to win some type of victory in order to sustain the fight for freedom against the British.

Conrad Heyer - 1753 - 1856 from a Daguerreotype - an early form of photography taken the year of his death. He reportedly crossed the Delaware with Washington. In 1819, he began receiving a military pension for his service during the war. On his death in 1856 he was given full military honors.

Approximately two weeks before the famous battle, Washington's army were along the Delaware river on the Pennsylvania side with Trenton being in New Jersey and occupied by Hessian troops, which were mercenary German soldiers hired by the British. Washington had learned through his spies that the British forces were planning on crossing the Delaware to attack the American forces once it warmed up and the Delaware River was more easily passable.

Contrary to the story that is often told, the Hessians were not drunk and intoxicated on Christmas day and thus were not able to fight because of their intoxicated state. This is simply not true. “Contrary to what’s often implied and taught, there’s no evidence that the Hessians were drunk from celebrating Christmas.” says Bunkie Maddock, a historical interpreter at Washington Crossing

Harrison might be a small town

But when it comes to serious crime we don't mess around!

By Thomas A. Robb

On October 10, 2024, Harrison Daily Times reported on its front page, the arrest and capture of Samantha Stevens, who has become known as the Ice Cream Bandit. Rumors report that she was previously associated with the notorious Apple Dumpling Gang, highlighted in several of Walt Disney's crime movies.

Upon discovery of this criminal activity, police were immediately dispatched to secure the premises and look for any clues which might lead them to solve this crime. City officials are hoping this quick action of the police will prevent the further growth of any criminal enterprise. Doughnut shops in the area have been warned to beef up their security and notify authorities if they see any suspicious fat people lurking around.

An investigation is underway to see if Stevens' has any ties with organized crime. END

You can read this disturbing story below as it appeared on the front page of the Harrison Daily Times. Parental discretion is advised. Note: Democrats have been telling us that American Citizens commit more crimes than illegal migrants. It must be true! Harrison has no history of migrants eating our ice cream!

Ice cream bandit busted

Staff Report

news@harrisondaily.com

According to an affidavit filed in Boone County Circuit Court on Oct. 15, an unusual burglary event occurred in downtown Harrison recently. Shortly before 7 a.m. on the morning of Tuesday, Oct. 1, law enforcement was dispatched to the Town House Cafe for a report of a theft.

Corporal Hunter Brantley responded to the call and upon arrival, he was advised that someone had entered the restaurant's storage container — which is located in the back of the building, and eaten their ice cream and chocolate syrup. A purse was left at the scene. Items in the purse indicated it might belong to 31 year-old Samantha Stevens.

Brantley parked by the Dollar General building located near the restaurant and observed a female walking out of the alley which runs behind Town House Cafe. The office asked the individual if her name was Samantha and she responded that it was. She then admitted to eating the ice cream.

I hope those reading this disturbing story will not be discouraged from considering the Ozarks. I believe the Ozarks still offers itself to be a safe place to raise a family. Harrison has no bad neighborhoods and no bad exits off the highway. The criminal, mention above, has been apprehended and the streets and people are once again welcoming and safe. 😊

Come Visit us!

Whether you live on the East Coast, West Coast or somewhere in-between, the next time you visit the area you are welcome to attend the Sunday morning church service at the Christian Revival Center.

And OF COURSE,

if you live in Boone County or nearby you are encouraged to visit the Christian Revival Center on a regular basis. The Christian Revival Center is not TRANS or LGBTQ friendly. We believe in the old time values, the Lordship of Jesus Christ, the Blood atonement and embrace the covenant God made with our forefathers. We have many subscribers in Northwest Arkansas and each of you are welcome to come visit.

If you are concerned about the growing anti-white agenda promoted by WOKEISM, then this is the church for you and your family.

The congregation of the Christian Revival Center would like for you to come and visit us for church. We meet each Sunday morning at 11 am. On the first Sunday of the month we meet for fellowship and potluck.

You don't need an invitation. THIS is your invitation.

Historic Park.

Up until a few weeks before that time, the Hessian had morning and evening patrols in and all through the area. The Hessians had been alerted that Washington may attack Trenton. In fact some of the New Jersey militia men routinely had crossed the Delaware River at night and would shoot at Hessian officers and soldiers on patrols as sneak attacks. Thus, the Hessians were very much on guard and ready for an impending attack.

Washington knew that the war was weighing heavy on the Americans and with being in the cold winter month of December, he didn't know how much longer they could fight against the British. Many of the American soldiers terms of service were about to expire and a large amount of them would be returning home. And once the weather cleared enough for the British to cross the Delaware easily, they would have to face the massive assault from both the Hessian and British troops that numbered in the thousands. But with every devastation, there are always the heroes which arise. God placed in the hearts of those men the willingness to fight and face unknown odds against their foes.

Washington knew he had to attack Trenton first and it had to be done immediately and secretly. So, they decided to cross the Delaware River and march to Trenton, starting on Christmas Day. The main emphasis of this article is to impress upon the reader the great sacrifices those men that fought in this battle. A sacrifice we will never know and perhaps barely understand.

So, in order to secure victory with odds seemingly against them, they decided they had to vacate their position at sunset without the British troops on the other side noticing them packing up, crossing the icy Delaware River without being noticed, and marching throughout the night, again without being detected, and reach Trenton before sunrise and then attack.

Sounds easy, right? It would have all failed if it wasn't the hand of God. That night, a heavy howling northeastern winter storm hit Trenton. Because of that, the British and Hessian soldiers stopped their patrols thinking the weather was too severe for any kind of military movement by Washington. At the same time, the Americans started to mobilize at 4:00 p.m to march towards and to cross the Delaware River. They marched five miles in below freezing weather just to get to the river while it snowed, rain, and iced.

The plan was to leave at noon, so they were already late leaving. Washington ordered profound silence so there would be no detection from the British. Major James Wilkinson followed their trail to the river and remembered that the "route was easily traced, as there was a little snow on the ground, which was tinged here and there with blood from the feet of the men who wore broken shoes." Quote from Washington's Crossing. By Eleven O'clock, the Northeastern storm shifted, and hit them with a terrific force again as they marched straight into the storm. According to historian David Hackett Fischer in his book, Washington's Crossing, John Greenwood, a soldier in the Continental Army said, "it rained, hailed, snowed, and froze."

Another section of Washington's army went down stream and was delayed in crossing the river as huge ice jams were preventing this section of the army to cross the river. "The floating ice that came downstream was caught by the incoming tide and driven upstream against the falls. Great cakes of ice were trapped between the rocks and the tide and compressed into a jumbled mass of frozen chaos."

Quote from Washington's Crossing. This made the crossing dangerous with floating ice, possibly damaging the boats and the extreme temperature.

After they crossed the river finally, they continued their march. They came across a big stream called Jacob's Creek. It's tumbling waters had cut a deep ravine directly in their path, and the road fell away in a steep decline. Here they had to unharness their horses and artillery. They had to bring out the artillery's long drag ropes and using the trees as mooring posts for a mechanical advantage, so the guns could be lowered and then hauled back up on the other side of the creek, and then had to do it all over again at another section. All of this in the storm, roads being icy, snow blowing

Greetings Pastor Robb:

Thank you for the great book, and I was honored to have received a phone call from you. Also I greatly appreciate all the issues of The Torch. I really like them, and carry them with me while traveling.

Things are not good here in Marxist Minnesota. It seems nearly everyone here are woke, liberal socialist and those that are not, are scared to say anything. My employer actually told me I was too male and too pale and would have to find a different profession. Now our small town of 30,000 is overrun with street people, criminals and migrants. Crime is soaring. I was hoping to move to Arkansas before the SHTF but I am afraid I waited too long.

Randy H / MN

Randy: Thank you for your note. It is never too late to do the right thing. I will have someone contact you regarding the questions you have about the Harrison, area.

Dear Pastor;

Keep me on your mailing list. Your work is 100% needed and welcome at this time.

Dear Sir:

Someone left one of you Gospel tracts in the restroom of Cracker Barrel. I wrote you to receive more information and you kindly responded and included some back copies of The Torch. After which I asked to be on your mailing list.

I am so excited about the information and articles. I sent a donation and in a few days I got a phone call from Pastor Robb thanking me. I never expected Pastor Robb to call. I was excited.

I am also learning about this Christian Identity thing. I heard of this once before, but I can't remember where. God bless your fine work.

Diane K / MI

Dear Pastor Robb:

Unlike the claims made by "Commiela" Harris, I really was raised in a working class neighborhood.

But the neighborhood I was raised in is now dirty, dangerous and full of migrants.

Jim R / OH

PS: I can't find my cat. Hope she didn't get eaten.

Dear Christian Revival Center:

We are so happy that Trump won the election, but I know the flood of legal nonwhite immigration will continue because all these conservatives think legal non white immigrants are good.

But non whites immigration is still devastating to the white population and to the America they built - it matters little if they were legal or illegal.

Dear Torch:

I want to make sure I stay on your mailing list. Reading the positive articles in The Torch helps to keep me on balance and focused. Enclosed in a contribution.

Are you really going to trust Uncle Sam with your Piggy Bank

You may not realize it, but if you don't have a will designating the distribution of your assets upon your death, the government will decide for you.

Naturally there are certain people or charities that you prefer, but Uncle Sam doesn't care.

Jason Robb's law firm will help you to clearly identify exactly who will inherit your estate. Naturally everyone is different but children, grandchildren, nieces, nephews and churches are usually among the first considerations.

Whether it is Jason Robb's law firm or some other attorney please consider the important work of the Christian Revival Center in your will, regardless of how small it may be.

The Robb Law Firm will prepare your will at no charge to you or to the church. As a white Christian patriot, I am sure you don't want "THEM" to get your money.

Contact Jason Robb today, it is too important to put off until tomorrow. Call 870-743-2215. Most likely it will be Scott who answers the phone and let him know you part of the Christian Revival Center and need a Will prepared. Mr. Robb will insure that the Christian Revival Center is named in your will along with the other beneficiaries.

in their face, then freezing rain. All in the dark. Moving inch by inch. All along, Washington urging and encouraging them, "press on, press on boys."

At approximately 7:30 a.m on December 26, 1776, a little after sunrise, Washington and his men and his divisions reached Trenton, marching all night long in the howling Northeastern storm, with snow, ice, rain and heavy winds blowing in their face. Some having only a resemblance of shoes on their feet. The men were tired, exhausted, frozen half to death as they reached Trenton. One of Washington's Glover's Marblehead regiment checked their weapons and their their gun powder was wet and not in firing condition. After leaving at 4:00 p.m on Christmas Day, marching approximately five miles, then crossing the Delaware River, and marching another approximately five miles, all during the dark, frigid cold night, the army gathered together. As they all gathered at Trenton to charge for the battle, John Sullivan asked, "What is to be done." Officer Arthur St. Clair replied, "You have nothing for it but to push on and charge," and George Washington said, "Advance and charge." (Washington's Crossing)

The Americans won the battle of Trenton that day against all odds, and with the hand of God, delivering them to victory. This was just a snippet of what they went through. This short article fails to illuminate the sacrifice and ordeal these men endured.

Regardless, this is a Christmas story that we often don't hear, our children don't know, and the great sacrifices of men whose names we will never know. We will never truly appreciate these men who willingly embraced the cause of freedom. They fought for our beautiful country, they fought for a Republic, and they fought to secure a white, Christian nation. They fought for us the children of the Republic. May we never forget the great sacrifice of these men and never forget this beautiful Christmas story of December 25, 1776. END

If you attend a church or you allow your children to attend a church that does not actively and publicly speak in defense of our WHITE COVENANT ISRAEL PEOPLE then you need to be ON GUARD. CHRISTMAS from page 1 for the sake of this discussion I will also agree that Jeremiah 10 is a reference to the Christmas Tree (which it clearly is not!). So while all the “evidence” submitted about the pagan origins of Christmas may be true, it only emphasize all more reason why celebrating Christmas (and Easter) is important.

Christians who oppose the celebration of Christmas give too much recognition to a dead “deity.”

I want to finish this by quoting from my book, Christmas and the Pagan Myth.

“Just like someone who may laugh as he spits on the grave of his enemy, so God is spitting on the high holy day of Nimrod.

“This one day, that perhaps Satan thought he could get the attention of the world, to recognize the birth of some pagan god, God has said you will not have it and has taken the day of Nimrod and turned it into a day to recognize the triumphant - trenchant - power of God.

“However, it seems the anti-Christmas crowd wants to give December 25 back to Nimrod.

“Perhaps this recognition of Semiramis, Nimrod and Tammuz by the anti-Christmas crowd is more pagan than the declaration that Jesus is Lord of every day - including December 25.

“This cultural attack on Christmas is an attempt by Satan to take back what he thought was his. And Christians who refuse to celebrate Christmas, by their complacency are giving permission for Nimrod to reclaim his day.

“Those who judge us for celebrating Christmas are, in a sense, stating, “Don’t celebrate Christmas, THAT is NIMROD’S DAY!” They are the ones giving recognition to a pagan god.

“In doing some of the research for this study I read four auricles about Christmas: two were talking about the wonderful event of the birth of Jesus Christ which we celebrate at Christmas time, and two were about the pagan origin of Christmas. The pro-Christmas articles mentions Jesus repeatedly and there was no mention of pagan gods. Only Jesus was lifted up and glorified. The two anti-Christmas articles together mentioned the names of pagan gods 89 times. So I ask you, who gave Christ the Glory? - the Christmas articles or the anti-Christmas articles?

“The claim is made that the heathen customs and traditions have taken over the Christian church and we are now worshiping the Roman Sun God, Sol Invictus, at the winter solstice. Sol Invictus means “The unconquered sun.”

On this day the sun begins its rise again and days start to become longer. It is called the unconquered sun. But it is Jesus Christ the one and only Unconquered SON which turned all their traditions into His glory.”

Jesus Christ Conquers Everything!

Jesus conquered the cross, he conquered death and He has conquered the grave. He has conquered the whole nefarious Satanic rebellion and he has conquered every pagan tradition and turned them into His glory. He even conquered December 25 and claimed it for His own.

The Satanic Rebellion gets NOTHING! END

More French Reporters at the Christian Revival Center

On Thursday, October 31, we hosted Stephan Gladieu a French photo journalist for about a 2 hour interview. He is working on a book tentatively titled The Americans.

I am aware that many people will say “Don’t talk to the media.” But we are not commanded to hide the light, but put it on a hill that all may see. Also we are told that God’s word will not return void, it will fulfill it’s purpose. However you must be sincere and soft spoken, without trying to preach to them. I must keep in mind that they will “butcher” me if I don’t guard my words - so I guard my words. Following these and other media rules, will allow God to take this “tool” and use it as a witness to our people. Remember: the media can eat you alive - so like with all wild creatures - you can’t show FEAR!

Mudding and taping of the sheet rock in the museum room is progressing and should be done by the next issue of The Torch. This is costing us $2300. We will next move to light installation, painting and then about 1,800 square feet of flooring. We have many artifacts from Gerald L. K. Smith, George Lincoln Rockwell, Howard Rand, Sheldon Emry, Kenneth Goff, Willis Carto, Dr. Ed Fields and others that will be beautifully displayed. We recently received notice that Art Jones, a long time political activist from Chicago will be submitting some items also. I ask that those of you who have been blessed by the Lord to please consider a donation toward this project.

Pilgrims Walk Among Us!

Steve and Wanda French, shown above, are members and regular attendees at the Christian Revival Center. And also members of the Mayflower Society.

Becoming a member of the Mayflower Society is not as simple as one may think. In other words you can't join just because you admire the courage of the Mayflower passengers or think it would be "cool" to join. It is not like joining a Fan Club. Genealogical proof of your direct lineage to a Mayflower passenger is an absolute requirement. And great care is maintained to protect the integrity of the Society.

Wanda is descended from Thomas Rogers.

Before traveling to Plymouth he was a merchant. Life in Plymouth was not kind to Rogers and he along with about half the Pilgrims died the first winter from what they called "The Great Sickness." His son Joseph was 15 at the time.

Rogers was a signer of the Mayflower Compact.

In 1644 Joseph, the son of Thomas, was one of the founders of Eastham at Cape Cod. In the same year he married Hannah and he fathered 10 children. In 1647 he became a Lieutenant in the American Colonial Army. His dying words to those gathered around him in 1778 were "I commit my spirit to the Lord Jesus who made my life possible."

Wanda is a 13th generation American.

Steve is descended from Isaac Allerton, also a signer of the Mayflower Compact.

Allerton, came on the Mayflower with his wife Mary, who died two months after their arrival at Plymouth, along with three children, ages 7 (Bartholomew), 5 (Remember), and 3 (Mary). Mary died in 1699 the last living passenger on the Mayflower.

Allerton served for a time as assistant to Governor William Bradford. His second wife was Feare the daughter of William Brewster. Feare died in 1633. About 1640 he married, Joanna Swinnerton.

Allerton's daughter, Mary, through whom Steve is descended married Thomas Cushman in 1636.

In 1649 Thomas succeeded William Brewster as Ruling Elder in Plymouth Colony and held that position for over 40 years until his death. Over his long life Cushman became a person of note in the colony being involved in numerous important activities.

Steve is a 12th generation American. END

The Old Man and His Grandson

A RUSSIAN FOLK STORY

The grandfather had become very old. His legs could not carry him very well, his eyes could not see as well, and others would have to repeat what they said, for his hearing was not as good. He also lost many of his teeth. This made it difficult to eat without appearing untidy. His son and his son's wife no longer allowed him to eat with them at the table and had him take his meals near the stove. They gave him food in a cup. One time he tried to move the cup closer to him and it fell to the floor and broke into many pieces. He tried to clean it up but it was difficult. The daughter-in-law scolded the old man, claiming that he damaged everything around the house telling him that from that day on she would give him his food in a wood dish bowl. The old man sighed and said nothing.

One day the old man's son and his wife were sitting in their little cabin resting. Their little boy was playing on the floor. He was trying to make something out of some small bits of wood. His father asked him, "What are you making Misha?" And Misha said: "I am making a wooded dish bowl." "What is it for?" The little boy replied, "It's for when you and mommy get old. When you are old I will feed you out of this wooded dish bowl like grandpa has."

The young peasant and his wife looked at each other and tears filled their eyes. They were ashamed to have treated the old man so unkindly and asked God to forgive them. From that day forward the little boy's grandpa was again welcome to sit with them at the table and took better care of him.

Lesson to be learned!

The way you treat your parents is how your children are learning to treat you!
